48	JURISDICTION AND VENUE	48
49		49
50	5 This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action because the amount in controversy	50
51	exceeds the jurisdictional minimum of this Court. See G.L. c. 212, § 3; see also G.L. c. 214	51
52	(equitable jurisdiction) and G.L. c. 231, § 2.	52
53		53
54	6 Venue is proper in Middlesex County pursuant to G.L. c. 223 because the events at issue	54
55	occurred in Burlington, Massachusetts, which is located in Middlesex County, and because	55
56	Defendants' actions caused injury to Plaintiff in Middlesex County (see G.L. c. 223, § 1	56
57	et seq.; Nixon v. Littleston, 341 Mass. 611 (1961) for venue considerations).	57
58	CTATEMENT OF FACTO	58
59	STATEMENT OF FACTS	59
60 61	7 Plaintiff was previously under certain pretrial release conditions and was no longer required to	60
62	see a therapist, identified only as "Frank," whom Plaintiff is suing for malpractice in the	62
63	Middlesex Superior Court, alleging 4+ years of misdiagnosed schizophrenia resulting in	63
64	substantial harm, including unemployment and pain and suffering (see G.L. c. 231, § 60B	64
65	regarding medical malpractice tribunal procedures).	65
66		66
67	8 On or about February 8, 2025, Defendants called the Burlington Police Department and falsely	67
68	informed the police that Plaintiff was in violation of a pretrial release condition by not	68
69	attending therapy with "Frank" (see G.L. c. 268, §§ 1–6 regarding perjury and false reports;	69
70	also see G.L. c. 269, § 13A for false reports to police in certain contexts).	70
71		71
72	9 Defendants knew or should have known that Plaintiff's pretrial release conditions did not	72
		1

73	require continued therapy with "Frank," and that calling the police based on this false claim	73
74	would subject Plaintiff to humiliation, emotional distress, and potential adverse legal	74
75	consequences (see G.L. c. 231, §§ 92–93 governing certain aspects of defamation and	75
76	false statements; Noonan v. Staples, Inc., 556 F.3d 20, 25 (1st Cir. 2009) discussing	76
77	Massachusetts defamation standards; Jones v. Taibbi, 400 Mass. 786, 791-92 (1987)	77
78	regarding falsity and harm).	78
79		79
80	10 Defendants' false statements to law enforcement were malicious and intended to harm	80
81	Plaintiff's reputation, undermine Plaintiff's ongoing malpractice lawsuit, and disrupt	81
82	Plaintiff's daily life (see Mass. R. Civ. P. 11(b) as to pleadings not made for improper	82
83	purpose; see also Correllas v. Viveiros, 410 Mass. 314 (1991) regarding malicious	83
84	prosecution/abuse of process considerations; Appleby v. Daily Hampshire Gazette, 395	84

86		86
87	11 As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' actions, Plaintiff has suffered damages	87
88	including, but not limited to, emotional distress, fear, reputational harm, additional legal	88
89	expenses, and other consequential losses (see G.L. c. 231, § 6F regarding frivolous claims	89
90	and costs; see also Draghetti v. Chmielewski, 416 Mass. 808 (1994) discussing	90
91	defamation-related harm and proof of damages; Hazen v. Att'y Gen., 97 Mass. App. Ct.	91

103		103
104	14 These statements were false and defamatory, as they portrayed Plaintiff as violating legal	104
105	conditions when, in fact, Plaintiff was under no such obligation (see Jones v. Taibbi,	10
106	400 Mass. 786, 790 (1987), defining defamatory statements; King v. Globe Newspaper	106
107	Co., 400 Mass. 705, 709 (1987) discussing defamatory meaning).	10

110	See Stone v. Essex County Newspapers, Inc., 367 Mass. 849, 851–52 (1975) (setting forth	110

123		123
124	17 Plaintiff realleges and incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth	124
125	herein.	125
126		126
127	18 Defendants' conduct, including falsely reporting Plaintiff to law enforcement for a violation of	127

132		132

134	conduct would likely result in severe emotional distress to Plaintiff (see Doyle v. Hasbro,	134
135	Inc., 103 F.3d 186, 195 (1st Cir. 1996) discussing intent and foreseeability of distress;	135

148		148
149	22 Defendants used the legal or law enforcement process (calling the police under false pretenses)	149
150	for an improper and malicious purpose, intending to harm or harass Plaintiff. See Fishman v.	150
